

THE NEW YORKER

March 14, 2016

NIGHT LIFE

JAZZ AND STANDARDS

Joan Osborne Sings Dylan

The times they are a-changin'. The same room that once reverberated with the joyous tones of the cabaret icon Bobby Short will now resonate with the tomes of Bob Dylan, as sung by the soulful rock vocalist Osborne, making her début at this fabled and increasingly evolving night spot. (Café Carlyle, Carlyle Hotel, Madison Ave. at 76th St. 212-744-1600. March 8-18.)