

November 3, 2014

NIGHT
LIFE

JAZZ AND STANDARDS

John Pizzarelli and Jessica Molaskey

Blending unimpeachable musicality with knockabout charm, the guitarist and singer Pizzarelli and his wife, the vocalist Molaskey, have transformed themselves into the royal couple of cabaret. Their dominion this month is the Café Carlyle, where they have four weeks for a new program, "Grown Up Songs." Full of material by Paul McCartney, Stephen Sondheim, Billy Joel, Johnny Mercer, and the like, it reflects the couple's embrace of time-honored standards and quality pop. (Carlyle Hotel, Madison Ave. at 76th St. 212-744-1600. Oct. 28-Nov. 22.)