Radiohead recently announced their tour, which includes festival dates and their first U.S. concerts in four years. The tour kicks off on May 20th at Heineken Music Hall in the Netherlands and wraps at Palacio de Los Deportes in Mexico City on October 4th. The majority of the announced dates have already sold out. The band is expected to perform their new, as-yet-untitled album, the follow-up to 2011's The King of Limbs, during their headlining set at Primavera Sound in Barcelona, Spain on June 3rd.
