Maude Maggart: The Door Opened

A luminous nightclub siren whose ethereal voice floats like a cloud, the wonderful Maggart is among the most compelling cabaret singers of her generation. In her Carlyle debut, she celebrates the release of her latest CD, Speaking of Dreams, and applies her Victrola-ready stylings to tunes by such masters as Irving Berlin and Harry Warren. Café Carlyle, Upper East Side. Tue 25–Fri 28 at 8:45pm; Sat 1 at 8:45, 10:45pm. $70–$130, at bar $50–$60.
